Measurement Instrument Access Instructions

Attitudes to Health Professional Questionnaire (AHPQ)

Permission Statement from Susanne Lindqvist
(via email communication, August 7, 2013)

These instructions are provided by the National Center for Interprofessional Practice and Education as part of a curated collection of instruments used for interprofessional education and collaborative practice (IPECP) research. More information is available at nexusipe.org/measurement-instruments.

If you like to use this questionnaire, the paper copy is available for £100, which is a “one-off” fee. The online version is more expensive, but of course also much easier to use (£1000 excluding VAT).

There are two different license agreements, one for paper and one for the online version. The license agreement is a formality required by the university. Send two hard copies, signed by an authorized signatory at your university, to:

Joita Dey
UEA Enterprices NR4 7TJ.

When she receives these she will send you an invoice and, once paid, I send it to you straight away via email.

For the online version please visit the live application at http://ahpq.uea.ac.uk/

Username: Manchester1 OR Manchester2

Here you can look at the AHPQ as if a student has entered an answer first time round and is about to add their second answer. You can try add the second answer yourself by using your computer mouse on the 10 cm scale.

There is no access to the admin area, but all data would be stored and protected so that only you had access. There will be things that you can change in the online version. Some things you cannot as this would alter the validity of the AHPQ.

You may adapt it the tool, but be aware that you may also change the validity of the questionnaire when doing so. Simply adding/removing professions will be OK.

If you need to know more about how to deal with analyzing data gained from the AHPQ there is a chapter on this in the below book:
